PRAYER OF A WEARY HEART.

Great Father,

I know that it is wrong to pray for death,

I know that wisdom only can direct

Thy counsils; that paternal love doth rule

Supreme in all thy dealings with thy child;

I feel that all which life hath brought, and all

That it can ever bring, are needful teachings

To the heart; needful to bring forth its power,

And worth and love, and true sublimity of trust

On thee. That if the soul should hurry on

To unknown worlds, ere it had well fulfilled

Its destiny in this, even spirit life,

Which now beams brightly on its vision, would

Be found less blissful far than this. It cannot be

That thou hast been defrauded in thy plan,

Nor is it true that thou hast formed this life

For pain and trial only; that core and grief

Should wear thy weary children down. Alas,

These needful steps to higher realms, why should

We falter in them? Why permit the heart to grow

Impatient with its toil? Is there not work

In other worlds to do? And if we fail

To train the spirit to the true nobility

Of labor, here, to train it into power,

And patience for its duty, we shall find,

When there, we are unfitted for our place.

Oh, it is wrong to pine for a release

From duty; 'tis wrong to shrink from any place

Where we may help to fill the mighty measure

Of human toil.

Yet, Father, oh, thou know'st

My suffering, for in thine image hast thou made

Thy child, and thou canst read his sorrows. Thou know'st

How hard it is when disappointed hopes

And crushed affections fill the soul's cup

Of earth-experience; when all is dark and cold

And lonely 'round it, and in the vista

Of long years before it, stretching far on

In time; when work and strife alone, uncheer'd

By human love and sweet companionship,

Must be the homeless heart's sole solace. Father!

Oh, I feel that thou art ever near, to cheer

The sinking soul; the soul that findeth naught

But cease to cling to. Canst thou then forgive,

It sometimes it should know a wish to cast

This earthly mould, and be more near to thee?

If such sin find no pardon in thine eyes.

Oh, Father, to thy child impart increase of strength

And trust, that he may meet, with cheerful brow,

Evil's trials.

Yes, there is joy in duty done,

Joy such as angels know. But the poor heart,

Of human love and rest and quiet, something craves

Warmly to nestle in. Deprived of these, 'tis child's.

And duty even fails to bring it bliss.

Yet, Father, thou art just, and in the scroll

Which telleth of the past, will be inscribed,

We trust, each struggle with the suffering heart

Hath known. Wait thou accept the will to do,

And pardon intermingling strength!

Miscellaneous.

The Heart's Alchemy.

"Watering the heart whose early fowls have died,

And with a fresher growth replenishing the void."

But there are hearts that never can grow

Old--the body may decline--the head be withered over by the frosts of age, the eye grow dim, and but imperfectly express the emotions that agitate or delight the breast

--but then there is a moral vision, super-ceding the physical, which can find within objects as bright as ever reigned without,

Childhood's Recollections.

"Sweet memory, waded by thy gentle gale,
Oft up the stream of time I take my sail;
And view the fairy haunts of long past hours,
Marked by far greener shades, far sweeter flowers."

How often in our sterner years does memory steal back into the dim and shadowy past, and casting a lingering look at the bright star of childhood, leave us again amid life's sunny hours, surrounded by the loving and "loved ones at home." In our sleeping and waking fancies the vision is before us, so bright and beautiful, that we mentally exclaim, "I would I were a boy

again, innocent, guileless, uncontaminated by contact with the vices and follies of the world." We greet once more old familiar faces; again we are gathered around the family altar, the heart-felt prayer breathing heavenward; the father's kind reproof, the mother's gentle tone, the weary ringing laugh of a sister, and the beaming countenances of scores of childhood's associates

come up before us and cast aside for a moment those clouds of sorrow and gloom with which, at times, we envelope ourselves.

But a change has come over our day-dreams. The night-tornado is here and has brought with it saddening thoughts--the ideal has vanished, the real is before me.

"I'm with the cold, dull world once more."

The mind wanders far away, and the forms of dear ones, absent, appear as in the times gone by we saw them, into ideal presence.

Where are they? how situated? what objects phantom-like are they pursuing?

With many of them "life's fitful fever over,"

they sleep well." Remembrances of happy hours, forever flowing, flood back upon the memory, reminding us that our lives borne upon the wings of time are being carried swiftly away from our earthly home to be launched upon the sea of eternity.

Forewell has been uttered to the many endeared ones, who are now scattered up and down the earth. Some have toiled up the steep and rugged ascent to fame. Some humbled themselves at the shrine of Mammon, are devoting their energies to the accumulation of wealth behind the western hills, where sinks the summer sun to rest.

Some, alas! lie mouldering beneath the golden sands which allured them from home, happiness and friends, to a distant land. Some have wandered beyond the precincts of our knowledge, and are, we hope, contesting fearlessly in the battle field of life; while others have gone down to their narrow houses.

"As sinks the summer sun to rest,
Or down a wave along the shore," slumbering in peace from the cares and trials of earth.

Stillness reigns supreme, its echo reverberates within my soul. The face of nature wears a sweet smile of sadness, and all things are impressed with gloom. The notes of the singing bird are borne to my ear, but they, too, are imbued with the spirit of the hour, and fall upon my waking vision as a melancholy strain. What a dream is the world? "A dream within a dream,"

--as we grow older, each step has an inward awakening. The youth awakes, and he thinks from childhood--the full-grown man despises the pursuits of youth as visionary--the old man looks upon manhood

The Power of Kindness.

How much is comprised in the simple word kindness! One kind word, or even one mild look, will oftentimes dispel thick gathering gloom from the countenance of an affectionate husband, or wife. When the temper is tried by some inconvenience or trifling vexation, and marks of displeasure are depicted upon the countenance;

and perhaps too that most "unruly of members" is ready to vent its spleen upon the innocent husband or wife,--what will a kind mien, a pleasant reply, accomplish?

Almost invariably perfect harmony and peace are thus restored. These thoughts were suggested by the recollection of a little domestic incident, to which I was a silent though not uninterested spectator. During the summer months of 1834, I was spending several weeks with a happy married pair, who had tasted the good and ills of life together only a twelvemonth. Both possessed many amiable qualities, and were well calculated to promote each other's happiness. My second visit to my friends was of a week's duration, in the month of December. One cold evening the husband returned home at his usual hour at nine oclock, expecting to find a warm fire for his reception, but instead, he found a cheerless, comfortless room. His first thought, no doubt, was, that it was owing to the negligence of his wife--and, under this impression, in rather a severe tone, he said, "This is too bad! to come in from the office cold, and find no fire! I really should have thought you might have kept it." I sat almost breathless--trembling for the reply.

I well knew it was no fault of hers, for she had wasted nearly all the evening, and almost exhausted her patience, in attempting to kindle a fire. She in a moment replied with great kindness, "Why, my dear, I wonder what is the matter with our stove?

We must have something done to-morrow,

for I have spent a great deal of time in rain to make a fire." This was said in such a mild, pleasant tone, that it had the most happy effect. If she had replied at that moment when her feelings were alive to supposed neglect, "I don't know who is to

PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS, in and by the Act of the General Assembly of this State, entitled "An Act to regulate the General Elections of this Commonwealth," enacted on the 2d of July, 1839, it is enjoined on me to give Public Notice of such Election to be held, and to enumerate in such notice what officers are to be elected: 1, WILLIAM FICKES, Sheriff of the County of Adams, do, therefore, hereby give this public notice to the electors of the said county of Adams, that a

GENERAL ELECTION will be held in said county, on the Second Tuesday of October next, (the 14th), in the several Districts composed of the following Townships, viz:

In the First district, composed of the Borough of Gettysburg and the township of Cumberland, at the Court-house in Gettysburg.

In the Second district, composed of the township of Germany, at the house now occupied by Israel Young, in the town of Littlestown, in the township of Germany.

In the Third district, composed of the township of Oxford, at the house of Widow Miley, in the town of New Oxford.

In the Fourth district, composed of the townships of Lattimore and Huntingdon, at the house of Wm. Chronister, in the township of Huntingdon.

In the Fifth district, composed of the townships of Hamilton and Liberty, at the public School-house in Millerstown.

In the Sixth district, composed of the township of Hamilton, at the house now occupied by Jesse Myers, in the town of Berlin.

In the Seventh district, composed of the township of McAllen, at the public school-house in the town of Penderville.

In the Eighth district, composed of the township of Strasburg, at the house of Jacob L. Grass, in Hutersburg.

In the Ninth district, composed of the township of Franklin, at the house now occupied by Henry Hartman, in said township.

In the Tenth district, composed of the township of Conowingo, at the house of John Busby, in M'Sherystown.

In the Eleventh district, composed of the township of Tyrone, at the house of Samuel Sadler, in Heidersburg.

In the Twelfth district, composed of the township of Monongia, at the house of Geo. Snyder, in said township.

In the Thirteenth district, composed of the township of Mountpleasant, at the house of Anthony Smith, in said township, situate at the cross-roads, the one leading from Oxford to the Two Taverns, the other from Hunterstown to Hanover.

In the Fourteenth district, composed of the township of Reading, at the house of Caleb B. Hildebrand, in Hampton.

In the Fifteenth district, composed of the Borough and Township of Berwick, at the public School-house in Abbottstown.

In the Sixteenth district, composed of the township of Freedom, at the house of Nicholas Moritz, in said township.

In the Seventeenth district, composed of the township of Union, at the house of Enoch Lefever, in said township.

In the Eighteenth district, composed of the township of Butler, at the house of Henry Fehl, in Middletown, in said township.

At which time and places will be elected

One Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania;

One Canal Commissioner;

Five Judges of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania;

One President Judge for the District composed of the Counties of Adams and York;

Two Associate Judges of the several Courts of Adams county;

One Member of Assembly;

One Prothonotary;

One Register and Recorder;

One Clerk of the Courts;

One County Treasurer;

One Sheriff;

One Coroner;

One Commissioner;

One Director of the Poor; and

One County Auditor.

Particular attention is directed to the Act of Assembly, passed the 27th day of February, 1849, entitled "An Act relative to voting at elections of Adams, Dauphin, York, Lancaster, Cumberland, Bradford, Centre, Greene, and Erie, viz:

or of the United States, or of any city or incorporated district, and also that every member of Congress and of the State Legislature, and of the Select or Common Council of any city, or Commissioner of any incorporated district, is by law incapable of holding or exercising at the same time, the office or appointment of Judge, Inspector, or Clerk of any election of this Commonwealth, and that no Judge, Inspector, or other officer of any such election, shall be eligible to any office to be voted for.

Also, that in the fourth section of the act of Assembly, entitled "An Act relating to elections, and for other purposes," approved April 16, 1840, it is enacted that the aforesaid 13th section "shall not be construed, as to prevent any militia officer or borough officer, from serving as Judge, Inspector or clerk, at any general or special election in this Commonwealth."

And in and by an Act of the General Assembly of this State, passed the 2d day of July, 1839, it is directed that the Inspectors and Judges be at the places of their districts on the day of the General Election aforesaid, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, to do and perform the several duties required and enjoined on them in and by the same act.

And be it further directed, in and by the act of the General Assembly of this State aforesaid, that one of the Judges of each of the different districts aforesaid, who shall have the charge of the certificates of the number of votes which shall have been given for each candidate for the different offices then and there voted for at their respective districts, shall meet on the third day after the election, which shall be on Friday the 17th of October aforesaid, at the Court-house, in the Borough of Gettysburg, then and there to make a fair statement and certificate of the number of votes, which shall have been given at the different districts in the county of Adams, for any person or persons for the offices aforesaid.

The Rev. W. Y. Eyster, of Germantown, has accepted a call from the English Lutheran Church in Chambersburg, and the Rev. Joseph Clark, of Cumberland county, has accepted an invitation from the Presbyterian congregation of the same town, to be their stated supply for one year, and has already entered upon his ministerial duties.

A young man named Haldeman, from Columbia, ran away from York on Monday last, with upwards of $3,000, belonging to his father and others, which had been entrusted to him to get exchanged. He was arrested on Wednesday, in Pittsburgh, under the agency of Mayor Gilpin, of Philadelphia, and his special officers.

The State Lunatic Hospital, at Harrisburg, will be opened for the reception of patients on the 1st of October next.

A number of blind and crippled foreign paupers were sent over to this country from Europe some time ago, and landed at Boston. Of course they became the inmates of the hospital and almshouse. The authorities of Boston have just sent them back to their native homes. This appears to be correct as an abstract principle; but it is certainly a very unfortunate thing for the poor afflicted creatures to be thus banished about upon the broad ocean, from the pithy consideration of a few dollars and cents.

The New Jersey railroad bridge, over the Hackensack river, three miles west of Jersey City, and the traplike bridge adjoining, were destroyed by fire on Tuesday last, being lit by sparks from the locomotive of the morning train from Philadelphia. Both were of wood, resting on piles, and about 600 feet in length. Loss supposed to be from $20,000 to $30,000.

We regret to have to announce the death of JAMES FENNIMORE COOPER, Esq., the distinguished author, which took place on the 11th inst., after a lingering illness, at his residence in Cooperstown, N. Y.

The steamer Europa arrived at Halifax on the evening of the 15th. Her news is three days late. There is no change to note in the markets, and her political news, except the following, is without interest:

Ledra Kollin and one hundred and twenty others had been arrested at Paris on political charges. The Prince de Joinville was announced as a candidate for the Presidency. The French Squadron in the Mediterranean had been ordered to the coast of Italy, the affairs at Naples and along the Peninsula requiring the movement. The aspect of affairs throughout Italy was very threatening. The decree of the Emperor of Austria, announcing his determination to establish an absolute government, had created great excitement throughout Europe.

Late from California.
The steamship Illinois, with Chinese dates of the 4th, put into Norfolk on Thursday, short of coal. She brings 400 passengers, and upwards of TWO MILLIONS in gold dust. The California news possesses little interest. Considerable excitement prevailed as regards the election. Mining was brisk, and accounts from the mining districts continue favorable.

A corps of engineers are now engaged in a survey of the most practicable route for a railroad from Westminster to Regensburg.

Pennsylvania College.

The annual Commencements of the College and Seminary took place during the past week; and were attended by a larger number of persons from a distance than have ever known at any previous Commencement. Our town for several days was unusually lively; and, we believe, all have left pleased with our institutions, our town, and its people.

On Tuesday evening, addresses were delivered by the graduating class of the Theological Seminary—Messrs H. S. Koons, of York; E. S. Henry, of Shrewsbury, York county; George Roth, of Carlisle; J. F. Prubst, of Frederick, Md.; and Victor L. Conrad, of Pine Grove, Schuylkill county, Pa.

On Wednesday afternoon, Professor Alexander, of Philadelphia, delivered an able address before the Linnæan Association. He was immediately followed by the Rev. Dr. Chubb, of New York, in an address on the Literary Societies of the College, which was one of the most masterly efforts we have ever heard, and we hope to see in print. In the evening the Alumni of the College were addressed by Mr. Bacon, of New York.

On Thursday morning, the Commencement of the College took place. The following were the exercises on the occasion: Latin Salutatory—By JACOB A. LEFFLER, Gettysburg, Pa.

The Light of the Dark Ages—By ISAAC SPRUCKER, Clearspring, Md.

French Oration—La Mort de Napoleon—EDWARD MINGUS, Philadelphia.

Nuncio—By DAVID WILES, Adams Co.; The Reaction of Revolutions—By THEODORE A. STROHM, Hummelstown, Pa.

Schicli—By LEWIS J. BELL, Washington Co., Md.

The Standards in America—By DAVID SWOPE, Gettysburg, Pa.

Percey's Battle—By GEORGE EVERETT, Chambersburg, Pa.

Earnest Love, Earnest Labor—By WILLIAM G. GEORGE, Lebanon, Pa.

The Evangelization of Africa—By CHAS. H. HENSH, Adams Co., Pa.

Belief in Presentism—By WILLIAM A. CASSELMAN, Williamsburg, U. C.

The Extraneousness of the Age—By EDWARD J. A. SHARRETT, Gettysburg, Pa.

The Study of History—By ALLEN TRAYNER, Clarksburg, N. Y.

Valdeciety—By JOHN S. CRUMBACH, Frederick Co., Md.

The degree of A. B. was conferred on all the above-named young men, and the degree of A. M., in course, on Geo. Branch Alden, Edenton, N. C.; David W. Bulham, Warren, N. C.; Henry M. Bickel, Reading, Pa.; Peter Bern, Lyeoming Co., Pa.; Victor L. Conrad, Pine Grove, Pa.; Levi W. Folsom, Tanaworth, N. H.; Aaron W. Lilly, Watsonville, Pa.; George C. Maund, Baltimore, Md.; Edward M. Pherson, Gettysburg, Pa.; Jacob K. Miller, Manchester, Md.; Edmund Miller, Salem, Va.; and William D. Kordel, Lebanon, Pa.

and the honorary degree of A. M., upon C. Baker, Esq., of Evansville, Indiana; O. F. Orth, of Lafayette, Ind.; and Mr. J. K. Kibbourn, of Greenacree, Pa.

The addresses of the young men on the occasion, were highly creditable to them, and elicited general applause.

The music was by "Gettysburg Band" and, of course, was "good."

Two young ladies at New Windsor, in Carroll county, Miss Maryland, and Miss Bondy, made their appearance a few days ago in the streets, dressed in full Bloomer costume—black dresses and red pants, and gipsy hat. It's coming near us!

Gooley's Lady's Book, for October, is on our table—and is a beautiful number. There are no less than 22 embellishments, some of them elegantly executed—one particularly, a portrait printed in colors. The fashion-plate is also rich. The contents are numerous, and highly interesting.

Whig Meeting in Philadelphia.

The meeting in Independence Square, Philadelphia, on Monday night last, the North American says, was one of the most numerous and enthusiastic assemblages which ever convened in that City. All the wards of the City, and all the adjoining districts, were fully represented with their appropriate banners and badges of distinction. The mechanics, manufacturers, merchants and working-men, turned out in full strength and made up a demonstration which, in point of numbers, character, substance and intelligence, has hardly ever been equalled in Philadelphia. The presence of Gov. Johnston was the great feature of the meeting; and during a speech of two hours, abounding in clear and practical exposition of his views on all subjects involved in this canvass, and of a candid examination of the opposing policies, he commanded the attention of his vast audience, and made an impression, which was admitted, on all hands, to be effective and convincing, an extraordinary degree. The North American adds:—If any thing were wanting to satisfy us that Gov. Johnston will be triumphantly re-elected, and that his policy will be fully vindicated and sustained by a large majority of the people of this State, the enthusiasm and the result of this great gathering would furnish the most incontestable proof.

$650,122 98 Paid Off!

We published last week the official Proclamation of Gov. Johnston, issued in accordance with the Act of 10th April, 1849, entitled "An act to create a sinking fund, and to provide for the gradual and certain extinguishment of the debt of the Commonwealth," of the payment, extinguishment and final discharge of which is of course annually saved to the taxpayers of the Commonwealth by this operation. These are the glorious fruits of the Sinking Fund recommended by Gov. Johnston and passed by his influence!

$650,122 98 of the State Debt! and that he has directed the certificates representing that amount to be cancelled. The annual interest on this sum at six per cent. amounts to

Tax-payers of Pennsylvania!—Can you hesitate to support a man who was the first to undertake the gigantic task of devising a system for the payment of the State debt, without any increase of the burdens of the people? Go to the polls, then, and vote for William F. Johnston, and the debt will continue to be reduced more and more while he continues in office.

Are the Whigs Organized?
Are the Whigs over the State aware of the importance of an organization that will bring out their entire vote? Are they sensible of the importance of such an organization every county, town, township and every school district in the State? Do they know that a full Whig vote (and none but a full Whig vote) is a WHIG VICTORY?

The day of trial is near—only three weeks and the question as to the policy that Pennsylvania approves is to be decided. Arouse then, Whigs, as one man, and assist in bearing aloft and in triumph the public banner of PROTECTION TO OUR OWN LABOR —and the eventual repeal of all State Taxes by the PAYMENT OF THE STATE DEBT, through the operation of GOV. JOHNSTON'S SINKING FUND. You have a noble cause and a noble leader.

Rally around the banner then, one and all, with perfect unanimity and resolution that ensures success—let EVERY MAN but do his duty, and a glorious triumph will be the result.

Gov. Johnston has already paid off more than half a million of the State Debt. Under his rule it will continue to be cancelled at the rate of a million a year, and that too without increasing the taxes of the community generally.

Col. Higler, on the other hand, has explicitly avowed himself in favor of an increase of the Debt. In a speech recently delivered in Bradford county he said he was in favor of borrowing a million, and a half to complete the North Branch Canal. This would of course add that amount to the debt.

It is for the tax payers to choose between these two candidates.

The Effects upon the Iron Trade.
The Chamber of Commerce of Philadelphia has just published a report on the effects of the tariff on the iron trade. The report is a valuable one, and shows that the tariff has had a most beneficial effect upon the iron trade.

The report shows that the tariff has had a most beneficial effect upon the iron trade. It has increased the production of iron, and has given the iron trade a most favorable position in the market.

The report also shows that the tariff has had a most beneficial effect upon the iron trade. It has increased the production of iron, and has given the iron trade a most favorable position in the market.

The Murder at Oakland College.

The N. Orleans Bulletin, of the 11th, gives the following account of an affair, which had been briefly telegraphed:—We learn from Mr. T. C. Charles, clerk of the steamer Emperor, that on the 5th inst., a foul and dastardly murder was committed at Port Gibson, Miss., by one Geo. A. Briscoe; his victim was the well known and highly esteemed Jeremiah Chamberlain, formerly of Gettysburg, Pa., President of Oakland College. It is said that Briscoe went to the College, inquired for the Rev. Mr. Chamberlain, who came out, when he was assaulted by Briscoe with the sword from a cane, and killed. The murderer immediately fled, but was not hotly pursued that he robbed the gallows of its just dues by cutting his throat from ear to ear; in this condition he was found on the morning of the 6th, on the public road, and died in a few minutes after the pursuing party reached him. It is said that the difficulty originated from political matters, by which that State is at present so much excited.

The Grain Market.

We think that it is about time for the Farmers to begin to inquire after the whereabouts of their great friend, the Tariff of 1846. Their great enemies, the Iron-masters, are pretty well used up; half the Furnaces are out of blast—the Forge-hammers are stopped—the mining of Coal and Iron goes on very slowly, and the tolls on the Public Works are pretty seriously reduced, so far as those articles are concerned. The way to Europe, though, that great foreign Market, which was to pay them so splendidly for their flour, is wide open—nearer at hand than ever through the operations of steam; and surely now they are reaping golden rewards for their products. Providence has been bountiful, and has blessed their labors with an abundant harvest of "the finest wheat," heavy, round, ripe and rich; but what has the policy of man done for them? In 1847, when the Irish famine and the failure of continental European crops caused a demand for American bread-stuffs, how our Louisiana friends boasted of their Tariff of 1846! Then what went up to $2 a bushel, and flour to $3 and $10 a barrel; and the Farmers were told to look at that and see what their true and only friends, the Louisiana, had done for them. There were the fruits of the Tariff of 1846. Well, that Tariff is still in being—the two-fifths majority in Congress, notwithstanding Mr. Fillmore's urgent recommendations, refuse to permit their tariff to be touched; and what now are the prices of grain?—flour—down—down—down! Wheat is $1 a bushel—four hardy brings $4 a barrel on a time; and there is no prospect of a change for the better. Except some grain arriving from Europe brings in the price like this.

Are the Whigs over the State aware of the importance of an organization that will bring out their entire vote? Are they sensible of the importance of such an organization every county, town, township and every school district in the State? Do they know that a full Whig vote (and none but a full Whig vote) is a WHIG VICTORY?

A Career of Crime.

A man named Hoven, pleaded guilty in the Sussex Co. (N. J.) Court, a few days since, to a charge of stealing a horse and wagon. The Sussex Register gives the following sketch of his history:—About 11 years ago he made his appearance in Sussex county with a handsome horse and wagon, calling himself Rev. Edward Smith, a Presbyterian minister of New York, and an agent of the New York Colonization Society; and on the next Sunday he preached at Greenwich Church, for Rev. Dr. Junkin, after which a collection was taken up, probably for the above society. In the afternoon he preached at Stearnsville, where another collection was taken up. During his sojourn in Sussex, he insinuated himself, by false representations, into the affections of a young lady, who in a short time married him. Subsequently the same name, but was obliged to leave that vicinity for meddling too much in politics, and the next day he was heard of him in Jersey county, Pa., where he was still claiming to be a clergyman, but having no other friends or relatives in that county, he was arrested and sent to the prison. While there he was now that he was an old offender, and had been an inmate of half a dozen State Prisons; had pursued a career of crime unparalleled; had married many wives, and assumed a great many different names. Leaving Middletown, he entered upon his old career of crime, his peculiar penchant being the stealing of horses and wagons. He now calls himself Blevins; is a man advanced in years, wears a wig, gold spectacles, and having every appearance of respectability. His career of crime, now for a time at least, brought to a close, has been a long and hazardous one, and it is the circumstances of it, could be collected, the account would doubtless be interesting and instructive. Since his arrest, numerous instances of his infractions of the law of this and other States have transpired. He has not yet received his sentence.

The Earthquake in Southern Italy.

A letter dated Naples, August 21, gives the following particulars as to the earthquake spoken of already—I have received several details relative to the dreadful disaster which occurred on the 14th inst., in the province of Basilicata, in this kingdom, and about one hundred miles from the capital. A list of more than fifty villages is given, in which greater or less damage was done, in more than one place the principal buildings having been destroyed, and in all several lives having been lost amidst the ruins of fallen houses.

The greatest sufferer, however, was the town of Molli, a place containing 10,000 inhabitants; three-quarters of the city are a mass of ruins—the arch-bishop's palace, the college, the municipality, the barracks, and the police station having been all levelled to the ground. The towns destroyed amount already to 700, besides 2000 wounded, among whom the principal families count victims. I have not time this morning to give all the minute details, but it is sufficient to say that the disaster is of a magnitude that has never before been witnessed in this country.

Lost in the Woods.

The Marion (Indiana) Journal, of the 28th ult., says that a man named Andrew Ferguson—nearly 80 years old—in company with his boy—about eight years old—left that place on the morning of the 19th, to transact some business with a neighbor some four miles distant. After completing their little business they again left for home, their being towards evening. It seems the old gentleman, who was rather lame and feeble, shortly after starting for home got lost, and wandered about in quest of some house or road during that evening, but without success. The boy states in the morning they again renewed their efforts to discover their way out of the woods, but alas! without avail.

They had remained in this situation going three days, when the citizens turned out to search for them. After travelling through brush, briars, and swamps they at last found them, and in a situation truly deplorable and pitiable. When found, the old man's body was entirely submerged under the water and mud, and he was lying on his back with his face only out of the water. In this situation the old man had been for more than two entire days, and yet, strange to say, he appeared life and not extinct.

When taken out and conveyed to the nearest house, the old man survived but a few hours. The water had killed him to the very heart.
